

ISLAND SOCIO ECOSYSTEMS

This course will examine the relationship that people have with their environment, in particular the sea, and the way that their cultural and economic practices are shaped by these interactions. We will also analyze social, cultural and economic transformations and the way that these transformations affect and change the environment in which people live. Finally, we will analyze the complex relationship between cycles of marine animals and the people who depend on them.